Postoffice Appointments.—There have been several vacancies in the Postoffice force since the induction of the present postmaster, and so far as has been possible in the matter of filling these vacancies Coll Sterling has endesvored to do so by promotion. Men who have been in the service and who were qualified have been uniformly brought forward, and this rule will be adhered to as far as practicable. By the death of James J. Battelle some weeks ago, an important vacancy was occasioned, and many outside applications have been made for the position. Yesterday Mr. John T. Cowl, who has been filling the vacancy caused by the death of Col. John Brown, received the appointment, and Col. Theodore Roller was appointed night clerk in Mr. Cowl's place. This system of promotion is an incentive to greater faithfulness to duty and is creditable to the Postmaster.

From all points in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Central and Southern Chio, and Indiana, the Pan-Handle Route offers better facilities and quicker time to Chicalove for flowers among our citizens. The committee are contributing their efforts simply out of their enthusiastic love for the work, and deserve credit, not only for simply out of their entinsissic love for the work, and deserve credit, not only for this, but also the general labor of themselves and colleagues to improve the knowledge and taste of the people at large in regard to the flora of the State.

In Dr. Schaffranek we found a gentleman of fine abilities, a ripe scholar, and a naturalist of wide and thorough research. He showed us without exception the finest collection of minerals, fossils, seeds, insects, petrifications and other similar objects of interest in connection with the natural sciences that we have ever seen outside of a public institution, and few of such collections owned by professional naturalists are the superiors of the Doctor's. Dr. Schaffranek is new engaged upon a massive work for publication, its subject being "The American Flora." He contemplates illustrating it with some 1,500 full page plates, and of these he has now completed about half. He is a finished artist and conscientious draughtsman, as well as an original investigator in the domain of science. His work will no doubt take a leading rank among similar better facilities and quicker time to Chica so than any other route. Its numerous express trains, superbroadway, and splendid equipment, and fast time, justifies its continued popularity. It is the only line running sleeping cars regularly on night trains between Columbus and Chicago, in both directions. Apprehensions exist that navagation will be temporarily suspended at the upper end of the river for want of water. It is too early in the year, however, for the permanent low water season to set in.

The Pittsburgh Dispotach of yesterday says: About the marks at the foot of Market street: The old ones are more than a foot out of the way; that is, they don't tell the truth. Here is the proof: The Buckeye State, 240 feet long, 36 feet beam, left on Friday afternoon, drawing 10 inches more water than the old marks called for. She went right on and experienced no trouble. The towboat N. J. Bigley No. 2, Capt. Wm. Baker, arrived on Friday evening with a tow of empties. Capt. Baker says on landing he went to the marks, on which there two feet four inches. The Bigley was drawing three feet seven inches. This goes to show that the new marks, which showed three feet four, were considerably nearer correct than the old ones. We have even both. four, were considerably nearer correct than the old ones. We have given both four, were considerably nearer correct than the old ones. We have given both: you can take your choice. The Pittsburgh Commercial-Gazette says that the hull of Captain Armstrong's new tow boat is about ready to be launched. Matt. Altman is back at his post in the Annie Kelly's pilot house, having relieved Captain W. H. Dorsey.

The down river markets are all pretty well supplied with coal, hence the coal men as a rule are not anxious for a rise soon. Usually there is a June rise, and there will probably be a rise next month, if not before.—Pitts. Com. Gaz.

The Cincinnatt Times says: The steamer Courier, of Wheeling, is paying wharfage for lying at the public landing to accommodate a party of excursionists who came to the city on her. Two trains of cars load passengers on the wharf every day, and don't pay a cent for being allowed to do it, and to-day four cars are being loaded with lumber there, and no charge is made for it. Charge the railroad companies.
